

New kidney care guidelines available

New guidelines for Kidney Care Clinics in BC are now available on the BC Renal Agency website. Developed by a working group of the Renal Agency's Kidney Care Advisory Committee (KCAC) following two years of consultation and professional input from groups across the province, the guidelines are intended to promote best practices.

The guideline, "Best Practices: Kidney Care Clinics," is believed to be the first document of its kind in Canada.

The Renal Agency website also has a new information sheet designed for GPs, called "Common Prescribing Questions for Patients with CKD not on Dialysis." This document is available in the Guidelines, Protocols & Clinical Tools area of the Renal Agency website, as well as in the patient section of the website. Patients are being encouraged to print out a copy of this document to share with their GPs.
